The close connection between craftsman and forest is the basis of all his creations. The passion for wood as a material. The eternal search for imperfection. A search for the authenticity that can only come from nature itself.

With the utmost respect for the bigger picture, and total commitment right down to the last finishing touch, Stefan Knopp reveals the life story that the tree has been waiting to tell. As more unique features emerge, so do the character and impact of the table that takes shape under his hands.

Stefan Knopp's work is characterised by practised equality. Interaction. He continues what nature has started. It is the formative power, he is the releasing power. In short: designed by nature, uncovered by Knopp.

Fire and water are employed when Stefan Knopp works with wood. Two powerful elements that could not be more in contrast – and yet they have something in common: fire is both formative and destructive. Water paints and erodes. Stefan Knopp draws on both elements for his specialised surface treatment techniques. To emphasise the tree's life story. Revealing scenes from a life that were once hidden within.

After Stefan Knopp has refined and defined the tree, it lives on as a table. It works, breathes and stands proud. It becomes a place for people to interact, a focal point of social life, and even a part of the family. Exuding an aura of security and comfort.

And everyone who uses it writes another page in its history.

The history of the man behind all the original works began somewhere very different. Far away from the dense forests. In Vienna. But at some point he had had enough of the city. Moved with his family to a remote farmstead. And was suddenly surrounded by so much life, so much nature, and so much space to pursue his passion.

That's when Stefan Knopp began experimenting with wood. Using fire as a formative element. Developing the exceptional in each piece.

Even as a young woodworker, he was known as the one who always reached for the wood that no one else wanted to work with. Stefan Knopp has always been fascinated by that which deviates from the norm. For him, a tree is a kind of elemental creature. The more it has experienced, the more stories it has to tell – And the more Stefan Knopp wants to get to know those stories and share them with the world.
